TTO Shifts into High Gear

TTO is launching its second new product program in six months — an impressive feat! The new programs have allowed our plant, which is already one of GM's largest Global Propulsion Systems facilities, to expand by more than 550,000 square feet.

Two years ago, TTO announced a significant investment in its future: $667.6 million for two future product programs. The first program, the Global Front Wheel Drive nine-speed transmission, was announced in the fall of 2018 and supports Lansing Delta Township production of the Buick Enclave and Chevrolet Traverse.

Recently, the plant began production of a 10-speed transmission for the new 2020 Chevrolet Silverado HD produced at Flint Assembly.

During launch preparation and ramp up, the plant faced significant hurdles, including numerous small car scheduling adjustments, six-speed transmission buildout and associated employee movement within the facility to support the new 9-speed and 10-speed programs.

Jeff King, chairman, UAW Local 14, recognized Toledo Transmission team members for their hard work. "I commend the entire workforce for their efforts over the past two years and for what they do every day – building high quality transmissions. Thank you for your commitment, your efforts to continuously improve, and your focus on customer satisfaction. The joint leadership team is extremely proud of you. Thank you for all you do."

TTO has a long-standing reputation of quality, productivity and performance. The plant was one of the first plants in North America, and globally to achieve Global Manufacturing System BIQ Level IV certification – an achievement to ensure everything we do is driven by the customer.

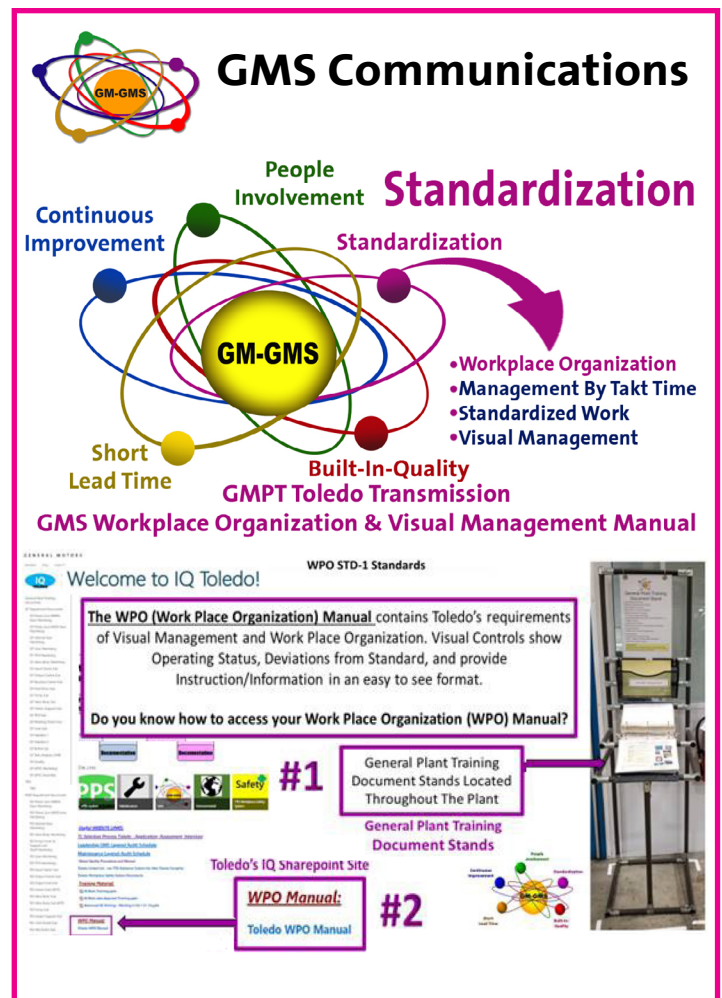

Eric Gonzales, plant executive director, praised the Toledo workforce for their ongoing efforts leading up to launch. "Launching two product programs in a six month window is no easy task, but the Toledo team embraced the challenge with open arms. The team's continued focus on quality and customer satisfaction, combined with strong engagement and active participation, has raised the bar."

GM has invested more than $1 billion into TTO since 2011, which reflects high confidence from the corporation in our performance on all levels. Congratulations to the entire workforce for your efforts so far to launch two very important products for GM! Continuous improvement and ongoing team member engagement will help continue our success for our customers.

TTO to Host Community Visit

On April 8, 2019, the plant will host elected officials and community leaders as part of a plant update. The group will receive a joint leadership welcome, as well as background on plant operations and then spend a majority of their visit in the 9 and 10 speed areas. This visit is a great opportunity to showcase our new transmission programs and the hard work put in by all employees to ensure successful launches.

Parking Notice It should be noted that the circular drive in front of the plant and a row of parking spaces along the front of the building west of the east security gate will be blocked off for the visit.
