TTO Supports The Luken T. Boyle Campaign For Kindness

TTO and UAW Local 14 have a strong history of community support. Every year, plant employees donate time, sweat equity and money to support numerous local causes and are heavily invested in the local community.

On Wednesday, July 31, James Bailey, regional HR director, represented TTO in a special community event to support the Luken T. Boyle's Campaign for Kindness.

As many of you know, this organization found a purpose out of a tragedy and work tirelessly by educating youth to find their voice, be empowered to help eradicate all forms of bullying which has taken many of our youth nationwide...one child is too many!

TTO stepped forward as the Campaign's first corporate sponsor and donated $8,000 to support Luken's legacy. James encouraged other local businesses and corporations to join us in supporting this cause. Luken represents any child who is in danger of not understanding that speaking up against bullies is how you stop them.

As a plant, we value respect, customers, relationships, integrity and kindness. These words are behaviors which remind us, when embraced, how simple it can be to have a positive effect not only in the workplace but in the community where we live.

Thank you to all TTO team members that supported local fundraising efforts for this great cause. We are proud to play a part in helping to make a positive difference in the local community.
